

CONFESSES TO KILLING OF WOMEN

Apartment House Janitor Had a Mania for Exploding Bombs

MANY CRIMES SOLVED

By Confession of John Paul Farrell Who Calmly Recites Details of His Atrocities.

New York, Feb. 5.—John Paul Farrell, janitor and confessed bomb constructor, was arraigned before the coroner and remanded to the Tombs, charged with murder to await grand jury action. Unkempt, unshaven, shabby and almost senile, Farrell slouched before the coroner and declined to add a word to his confessions and statement of yesterday.

New York, Feb. 5.—John Paul Farrell, a discharged apartment house janitor, after being arrested as a material witness, confessed that he had killed Mrs. Bernard Herrera Sunday night by means of a bomb he had made and that by similar means he had caused the death of Mrs. Helen Taylor a year ago and attempted the life of Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the court of general sessions last March. Farrell is held today on a charge of murder for the killing of Mrs. Herrera in the explosion Sunday night. Mr. Herrera was badly hurt, as was also Sarah Faughtman.

Although the police are convinced the man is mentally unbalanced, Deputy Commissioner Dougherty last night said detectives he had sent out to numbers to investigate the case have learned enough to lead them to believe Farrell's startling story is true in the essentials though false in many details.

Every time Farrell had a grievance he seems to have settled the business with a bomb. The trouble with Mrs. Herrera, he said, was that she fired him from his job as janitor and hired a negro in his place. He wanted to get Judge Rosalsky out of the way, because the jurist had sentenced Joseph Harvey, a pat, to serve 30 years in Sing Sing for stealing $16 worth of jewelry. Farrell told the police he helped Harvey rob Peter Johnson's home in the Bronx in 1908, but easily escaped.

Why Farrell wanted to kill the Taylor woman, sometimes known as Grace Walker, was more than the police could fathom. In his early story Farrell said she was his daughter and he slew her because she had gone wrong. Later he recanted this and said she was an intimate friend, but gave no reason for killing her. He also told Dougherty who and by whom Kid Walker was shot down and slain in 1887 on the Bowery. He said Walker betrayed the Taylor woman and a man named Lestrane killed him in revenge.

Having disposed of the bomb mysteries, Farrell confessed, the police assert, to having perpetrated a series of robberies in Brooklyn and the robbery of the Johnson home. Harvey and Harry Hartman, his companions in the latter exploit, were sentenced to Sing Sing for 20 years and nine years, respectively. Farrell had never been suspected of complicity in the crime.

Besides this, Mr. Dougherty said, Farrell served 10 years in the New Jersey penitentiary at Trenton for burglary and other crimes. As John McDermott, alias Liverpool Jack, Farrell's picture is in the rogues gallery in Jersey City, according to information to Dougherty.

Farrell's desire to confess so many crimes led Mr. Dougherty to doubt his sanity. He immediately sent out a telegram, the story. While detectives were busy at this, the janitor left two stenographers busy taking down his details of his debracted story.

After an all-night vigil and more of it during the day, Farrell was tractable and answered without hesitation every question put to him. He said he was born in Ireland 52 years ago, and had served as an orderly in the army during the Spanish-American war. He was asked if he had served in the navy and promptly displayed "U. S. N." tattooed on his right arm. He also told the police he had been confined for a short time in an insane asylum at Danville, Pa.

The bomb which exploded at Farrell's door, he made in his room, he said, according to the same formula used in manufacturing the Rosalsky and latter bombs. The materials consisted of iron pipe, springs, paper, two boxes, a steel button and a percussion cap. The explosive in each case was nitro-glycerine. He gave the police a specimen of his handiwork, by constructing a dummy internal machine and demonstrating it as he told of his crimes.

The Taylor and Rosalsky bombs

WOMAN IS PROBABLY FATALY BURNED WHEN DRESS CATCHES FIRE

Practically enveloped in flames before discovering that her clothing was afire, Mrs. Florence Cass, aged 36 years, wife of Carey Cass, a polisher employed at the plant of the Wehrle Company, was probably fatally burned Wednesday morning at her home, 500 Granville street, near Broad. The woman's clothing was almost entirely burned from her body, leaving the charred flesh laid bare. Her fingers were terribly incinerated in her frantic efforts to free herself from the burning garments.

It was about 10 o'clock when the accident occurred and Mrs. Cass was alone at the time. She stepped in front of a small gas stove in the sitting room and it is believed that the draft drew her skirts into contact with the gas flames.

Before she knew anything of her peril, the flames were leaping about her shoulders. She screamed for help and ran into the kitchen tearing frantically at her clothing.

Mrs. Cass had presence of mind enough to refrain from running out of the house, but in her terror she failed to use a comfort on a bed in the sitting room, with which she might have succeeded in smothering the flames. Mrs. A. L. Houck, her next door neighbor heard her cries and hurried into the house, but arrived too late to be of any assistance in extinguishing the flames or removing the burning clothing. Mrs. Cass had succeeded in getting most of the clothing off and was protecting herself with other clothing when Mrs. Houck arrived.

Mrs. Houck realized that the woman was seriously burned and sent a hurry call for Dr. Carl E. Evans. The physician dressed the burns, but was unable to say what the outcome would be. He stated that the burns were deep. Practically all the skin was burned from her back, from the shoulders to the thighs. Her fingers and hands were charred almost to the bones. Much of her hair was burned off and her ears were also badly scorched.

Mrs. Cass remained conscious during the entire time and suffered excruciating agony which she bore with great bravery. Soothing and healing lotions were applied by the physician which in a measure will reduce the pain, but her suffering is intense.

The fact that such a great quantity of the skin was destroyed may result in the woman's death, though it is impossible to state what the outcome will be. It may be necessary to resort to skin grafting to save her life.

Mrs. Cass came to Newark about two months ago with her husband. They have lived in the Granville street house since arriving in Newark. They have one child, 8 years old, who was in school at the time of the accident. Mr. Cass was notified and went to his home immediately.

At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon the condition of Mrs. Cass is, if anything, growing worse, and she has not been able to rest at all, and besides is suffering with her stomach, which is causing nausea.

WOMAN FATALY BURNED TODAY AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Feb. 5.—A gust of wind blew down the chimney at the home of Mrs. Lena Weisman, 35, today as she stood in front of an open coal stove in her kitchen. A flame shot out, her apron caught fire and before neighbors could respond to her screams she was fatally burned.

She was made in the cellar of a house in East Fourteenth street, Farrell said, where he was employed as an elevator man. The superintendent of the building said that Farrell used to lock himself in a cellar at times, and became enraged if disturbed. On the premises was found a short length of pipe, fashioned at each end just as Farrell said he made them.

A connection between the Taylor and Rosalsky case was suspected partly through the fact that the addresses on the two packages were made apparently by the same typewriter. Commissioner Dougherty said that Farrell in his confession told of buying a second-hand typewriter. Farrell made use of this machine when he sent the package last year, he said.

Having disposed of the bomb mysteries, Farrell confessed, the police assert, to having perpetrated a series of robberies in Brooklyn and the robbery of the Johnson home. Harvey and Harry Hartman, his companions in the latter exploit, were sentenced to Sing Sing for 20 years and nine years, respectively. Farrell had never been suspected of complicity in the crime.

Besides this, Mr. Dougherty said, Farrell served 10 years in the New Jersey penitentiary at Trenton for burglary and other crimes. As John McDermott, alias Liverpool Jack, Farrell's picture is in the rogues gallery in Jersey City, according to information to Dougherty.

Farrell's desire to confess so many crimes led Mr. Dougherty to doubt his sanity. He immediately sent out a telegram, the story. While detectives were busy at this, the janitor left two stenographers busy taking down his details of his debracted story.

After an all-night vigil and more of it during the day, Farrell was tractable and answered without hesitation every question put to him. He said he was born in Ireland 52 years ago, and had served as an orderly in the army during the Spanish-American war. He was asked if he had served in the navy and promptly displayed "U. S. N." tattooed on his right arm. He also told the police he had been confined for a short time in an insane asylum at Danville, Pa.

The bomb which exploded at Farrell's door, he made in his room, he said, according to the same formula used in manufacturing the Rosalsky and latter bombs. The materials consisted of iron pipe, springs, paper, two boxes, a steel button and a percussion cap. The explosive in each case was nitro-glycerine. He gave the police a specimen of his handiwork, by constructing a dummy internal machine and demonstrating it as he told of his crimes.

The Taylor and Rosalsky bombs

SENATE OPPOSES MEASURE

ROUGH SLEDDING AHEAD FOR SHORT BALLOT IN UPPER BRANCH

IN INTEREST OF WOMEN

IS BILL WHICH WOULD LIMIT WORK DAY TO EIGHT HOURS — WOULD LENGTHEN THE TERM OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

Columbus, O., Feb. 5.—The first serious opposition to the administration plan of a short ballot is expected in the legislature today, when the senate begins consideration of Representative Young's bill, which would make the state dairy and food commission appointed by the governor, instead of elected by the people.

The bill passed the house by the narrow margin of four votes. Representatives of farmers' granges at that time opposed the bill.

Shall Ohio have a law providing an eight-hour workday for women, or a law providing a nine-hour workday, with a half holiday on Saturday afternoon?

This is the question which came before the members of the labor committee of the house today, in the consideration of the Young bill, which would limit the working day for females to nine hours. The bill of Representative Vollmer, Cleveland, providing for a straight eight-hour day, six days a week, was also considered.

Testimony brought out today by the legislative committee appointed to inquire into the affairs of the state militia, with a view of curtailing expenses, showed that records of the amount of money issued by the department to defray transportation expenses of officers of the Guard up to six months ago have been destroyed, according to Capt. J. S. Shetter, quartermaster clerk, a witness. Capt. Shetter said that the commanding officer of a regiment might abuse the privilege of issuing transportation, and that as far as he knew the department had no way of prohibiting such abuse.

A bill to amend the law relative to vital statistics, which will make it compulsory upon physicians to report to the state registrar of vital statistics all births and deaths will be introduced during the present session of the legislature. Such a measure is now being drafted under direction of A. V. Holland, state vital statistician.

Two Democrats and one Republican are to compose the state licensing board, which is to appoint county licensing boards of three members in Cuyahoga and Hamilton, two members in Franklin, Lucas, Montgomery and Mahoning, and one commissioner in the other wet counties.

Other provisions to go into the administration bill, as stated yesterday, are for jury trials at the location of the offense, only when a second conviction might be the result, as this would mean revocation of the licensee's right to ask revocation, the general public being denied the right of complaint, responsibility for selling to children, to remain on the shoulders of the saloon keeper, children misrepresenting their ages to avoid being taxed, as done in Indiana, as a punishment.

A bill to amend the law relative to vital statistics, which will make it compulsory upon physicians to report to the state registrar of vital statistics all births and deaths will be introduced during the present session of the legislature. Such a measure is now being drafted under direction of A. V. Holland, state vital statistician.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

There were no other advances in the other grades of crude oil announced in Pittsburgh. The rise has so weakened the market for the security of oil companies that a number of brokers announced today that such securities would no longer be carried on margins, which virtually places all margins in them on a cash basis.

Offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner, whose terms begin in January, are not changed. If the proposed bill is enacted into law these three will be the county officials to be voted for at the 1914 election and the county ballot will be the shortest. Ohio voters have had the privilege of marking for many years.

A majority of the counties elected almost full sets of Democratic officials last fall.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR NEWARK?

Convince Yourself That You are An Asset to the Community by Doing Something for the Community

By Chalmers L. Pusey.

PROF. SCHLESINGER TO WRITE SIX ARTICLES FOR ADVOCATE ON MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

Cleveland voters by a majority of 8 to 1 decided Tuesday to establish a commission to form a new charter under the new home rule constitutional amendment. A very small portion of the whole city vote was cast.

The charter proposed also won in Youngstown, but Coshocton defeated the proposition to select a commission. In Coshocton only 26 per cent of the vote was cast on Tuesday.

The Board of Trade at its meeting last Thursday discussed the Smith one-per-cent tax law and home rule amendment and listened to reports made by the Board of Trade committee who had been appointed by Mayor Swartz as delegates to the Ohio Municipal League convention.

The discussion showed a marked interest in the commission form of city government, the city manager plan, and the federal plan and the attention given to municipal problems by the Newark business men makes the Schlesinger articles both valuable and timely. Watch for the first of the series in next Monday's Advocate.

Constantinople, Feb. 5.—The 48 hour bombardment on Adrianople has thus far resulted in only eight deaths in the city according to the war office official statement. Fifty private houses have been set on fire.

Shukri Pasha, commander in chief of Adrianople, reported by wireless to the war office here today. "The enemy is bombarding us. 138 common shells and 11 shrapnel have fallen in the city, killing 8 people and wounding 10. A number of houses are in flames. The bombardment continues.

Mohamed Sherket Pasha, Turkish grand vizier and minister of war left for the front at noon today. His departure is taken to mean that some forward action is contemplated by the army at Tchatalja.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 5.—The bombardment of Adrianople continued today on all sides of the city. The heavy siege guns brought up by the Servian troops were trained on the principal works of the fortress. Bulgarian army headquarters report that yesterday passed without any fighting along the Tchatalja lines.

London, Feb. 5.—The bombardment of Adrianople proceeded without interruption today. A report was spread today that the Bulgarians had decided to suspend operations for 24 hours so as to give the Turkish garrison an opportunity of surrendering. This, however, appears to be without foundation.

A message from Belgrade, Servia, this morning speaks of the heroic conduct of a couple of Servian regiments which participated in an attack on the outer circle of forts.

There is no means of verifying this or any other reports, as such fighting as may be in progress is taking place behind closed doors so far as the outside world is concerned.

Dependence has to be placed on the more or less biased stories given out by the respective army headquarters. Only on extremely rare occasions can a newspaper correspondent succeed in circumventing the strict censorship.

DRAKE SOUGHT AID FROM REPS. AFTER DEFEAT

Columbus, Feb. 5.—The defense in the Bond-Dean bribery trial occupied the attention of criminal court here today and several witnesses were examined in an effort to refute the testimony submitted by the state yesterday.

Former Senator Drake of Erie county, according to testimony submitted, sought the support of the Republican party in 1908, following his defeat at the Democratic convention.

The defense also testified that Drake had said that he was offered $10,000 or any amount to vote against the Rose bill.

While on the stand yesterday, Drake was unable to remember of having told of being offered money for his vote.

PREPARATIONS FOR WILSON INAUGURAL

The Carpet from Bagdad

by HAROLD MAC GRAETH
Author of HEARTS AND MASKS,
The MAN ON THE BOX etc.
Illustrations by M. G. KETTNER
COPYRIGHT 1911 by BOBBS - MERRILL COMPANY

CHAPTER XV.

Fortune's Riddle Solved.

Fortune, without deigning to reply, walked slowly and proudly to her tent, and disappeared within. She looked neither at Ryanne nor at George. She knew that George, his soul filled with unlucky quixotic sense of chivalry which had made him so easy victim to her mother, would not accept his liberty at the price of Ryanne's, Ryanne, to whom he owed nothing, not even mercy. And if she had had to ask one of the two, George would have been the natural selection, for she trusted him implicitly. Perhaps there still lingered in her mind a recollection of how charmingly he had spoken of his mother.

She could have set out for Cairo alone: even as she could have grown a pair of wings and sailed through the air! The fate that walked behind her was malevolent, cruel, unjust. She had wronged no one, in thought or deed. She had put out her hand confidently to the world, to be laughed at, distrusted, or ignored.

Was it possible that a little more than a month ago she wandered, if not happy, in the sense she desired, at least in a peaceful state of mind, among her camellias and roses at Mentone? Her world had been, in this short time, remolded, reconstructed; where once had bloomed a garden, now yawned a chasm; and the psychological earthquake had left her dizzy. That Mahomed, now wrought to a kind of Berserk rage, might begin reprisals at once, did not alarm her; indeed, her feeling was rather of dull, aching indifference. Nothing mattered now.

But Ryanne and George were keenly alive to the danger, and both agreed that Fortune must go no farther. Fortune, under his bitter railing and seeming scorn for sacred things, possessed a latent magnanimity, and it now pushed up through the false layers. "Jones, it's my funeral. Go tell her. You two can find the way back to the canal, and once there you will have no trouble. Don't bother your head about me."

"But what will you do?"
"Take my medicine," grimly.
"Ryanne, you are offering the cowardly part to me!"

"You fool, it's the girl. What do I care about the rest of it? You're as brave as a lion. When you put up your fists the other night, you solved that puzzle for yourself. For God's sake, do it while I have the courage to let you! Don't you understand? I love that girl better than my heart's blood, and Mahomed can have it drop by drop. Go and go quickly! He will give you food and water."

"You go. She knows you better than me."

"But will she trust me as she will you? Percival, old top, Mahomed will never let me go till he's taken his pound of flesh. Fortune!" Ryanne called. "Fortune, we want you!"

She appeared at the flap of the tent. "Jones here will go back with you. Go, both of you, before Mahomed changes his mind."

"Miss Chedsoye, he is wrong. He's the one to go. He was hurt worse than I was. Pride doesn't matter at a time like this. You two go," despatched.

Fortune shook her head. "All or none of us; all or none of us," she repeated.

And Mahomed, having witnessed and overheard the scene, laughed, a laugh identical to that which had struck the barmaid's ears sinistly. He had not studied his white man without gathering some insight into his character. Neither of these men was a poltroon. And when he had made the offer, he knew that the conditions would erect a barrier over which none of them would pass voluntarily. So much for pride as the Christian dogs knew it. Pride is a fine buckler; none knew that better than Mahomed himself; but a wise man does not wear it at all times.

"What is it to be?" he demanded of Fortune.

"What shall I say to him?"

"Whatever you will." Ryanne was tired. He saw that argument would be of no use.

"All or none of us." And Fortune looked at Mahomed with all the pride of her race. "It is not because you wish me to be free; it is because you wish to see one of my companions made base in my eyes. I will not have it!"

"The will of Allah!" He could not suppress the fire of admiration in his own eyes as they took in her beauty, the erect, slender figure, the scorn upon her face, and the fearlessness in her great, dark eyes. Such a woman might have graced the palace of the Great Caliph. He had, had in mind many little cruelties to practice upon her, that he might see the men writhing, impotent and helpless to aid her. But in this tense and dramatic scene, a sense of shame took possession of whirlwinds of sand appeared here trifling consequences, such as forgetfulness, rose and died as if for tiring to give him his rations unless he wanted of air. Mahomed veered the caravan toward a kind of bluff composed of sand and precipitous boulders. All the camels were made to kneel. The boys muffed up their mouths and noses, and Mahomed gave instructions to his captives. Fortune buried her head in her coat and nestled down beside her camel, while George and Ryanne used their handkerchiefs, cards spread out upon the sand. Ryanne carried himself very well. Had he been alone, he would have broken loose against Mahomed; but he thought of the others, and restrained himself—some consideration was due to them.

But into the blood of the two men there crept a petty irritability. They answered one another sharply, and often did not speak. Fortune alone seemed mild and gentle. Mahomed, since that night she had braved him, let her go and come as she pleased, nor once disturbed her. Had she shown weakness when most she needed courage, Mahomed might not have altered his plans. Admiration of courage is inherent in all people. So, without appreciating it, that moment had been a precious one, saving them all much unpleasantness.

By the twentieth day, the caravan was far into the Arabian desert, and early in the afternoon, they came upon a beautiful oasis, nestling like an emerald in a plaque of gold. So many days had passed since the beloved green of growing things had soothed their inflamed eyes, that the sight of this haven cheered them all mightily. Once under the shade of the palms, the trio picked up heart. Fortune sang a little, George told a funny story, and Ryanne wanted to know if they wouldn't take a hand at euchre. Indeed, that oasis was the turning point of the crisis. Another week upon the dreary, profitless sands, and their spirits would have gone under completely.

This oasis was close to the regular camel-way, there being a larger oasis some twenty-odd miles to the north. But Mahomed felt safe at this distance, and decided to freshen up the caravan by a two-days' rest.

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him; that he was loyal and brave and honest. She would know in twenty days what it takes the average woman twenty years to learn the manner of man who professed to love her. Ryanne left the game unfinished, stretched himself upon the ground. Oh, the bitter cup, the bitter cup!

George immediately began to show Fortune little attentions. He fixed her saddle-bags, spread out her blanket, brought her some ripe dates of his own picking, insisted upon going to the well and drawing the water she was to drink. And oh! how sweet and cool that water was, after the gritty flat liquid they had been drinking!

Just before sundown, he and Fortune set out upon a voyage of discovery; and Ryanne paused in his game of patience to watch them. There was more self-abnegation than bitterness in his eyes. Why not? If Fortune returned to her mother, sooner or later the thunderbolt would fail. Far better that she should fall in love with Jones than to go back to the overhanging shadow. A smile lit the corners of his lips, a sad smile. Percival didn't look the part of a hero. His coat was variously split under the arms and across the shoulders; his trousers were ragged, and he walked in his cloth pads like a man who had gone in both feet. A beard covered his face, and the bare spots were blistered and peeling. But there was youth in Percival's eyes and youth in his heart, and surely the youth in hers must some day respond. She would know this young man; she would know that adversity could not crush him; that the promise of safety could not make a coward of him

Newark Daily Advocate
Published by the
ADVOCATE PRINTING COMPANY
J. M. Newell, Owner.
G. H. Spencer, Manager.

Entered as second class matter
March 10, 1912, at the post office at Newark, Ohio, Under Act of March 3, 1893.

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS AND AMERICAN NEWSPAPER
PUBLISHERS' ASSN.
MEMBER SELECT LIST OF OHIO
DAILY NEWSPAPERS.
Advocate's New York Office—116 Nassau street, Robert Tome, Eastern Representative.

Terms of Subscription.
Single Copy 10 cents
Delivered by carrier, per week, 10 cents
14 Paid in Advance.
Delivered by carrier—one month $1.40
Delivered by carrier—six months $2.80
Delivered by carrier—one year, $4.80
All subscribers who arrange to pay the office are subject to a call from the collector if payment is not made when due.

Terms by Mail.
(Strikes in Advance.)

One month $1.40
Three months $4.20
Six months $8.40
One year $16.80

All subscriptions discontinued at end of time for which they are paid unless renewed before expiration.

NEWS STANDS.
Where The Daily Advocate is Sold.
H. A. Atherton 14 N. Park Place
U. O. Stevens 309 E. Main St.
B. M. East East Side Pharmacy
The Brunswick North Second St.
The Standard Hotel
Boulders and Beck 33 West Church St.
G. L. Desch 50 W. Main St.
C. K. Patterson 116 Union St.
Union News Co. B. & G. Station

UNION LABOR
WEEKLY

The good roads movement will receive quite an impetus this year as a result of the administration of the state automobile registry department by Secretary of State Graves. A report just given out of the last 12 months' work in that sub-department shows that 63,017 machines were licensed as against 45,788 in 1911, while the receipts increased from $245,752.60 in 1911 to $337,303.18 in 1912. The registration department is confident the number of automobiles in Ohio will be 100,000 by the close of the present year. Ohio ranks third in the United States in the point of number of automobiles owned, being distanced by New York and California. Pennsylvania ranks fourth, Indiana fifth and Illinois sixth. There are 1,000,000 machines owned in the United States.
Cuyahoga county leads in Ohio, with 11,048 machines registered and is followed respectively by Hamilton, Franklin, Lucas, Montgomery and Summit counties. Vinton county, which has the least number of automobiles, showed the largest percentage of increase.
Of the 63,017 automobiles registered 59,421 are propelled by gasoline power, and 3,696 by electricity. In the year 1912, 1,233 dealers and manufacturers of automobiles registered.

An order has been issued by Adjutant General Wood of the Ohio National Guard, that was designed to make better marksmen of the enlisted men, and if they respond properly there will be more sharpshooters in the O. N. G. than in any other similar organization in the country.

For years the state rifle team has been composed largely of officers of the guard, the 1911 state team did not have an enlisted man in it. The recent order sent out by General Wood makes officers of the guard ineligible to membership on the state rifle team, and confines the competition for this honor to enlisted men. The officers may compete for the relay team, or they may have a rifle team of all who are not reviewed with each consideration of the issues and problems of the late period.

The new order is expected to stimulate interest among the enlisted men in rifle practice.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan says in The Commenter: "The leaders in the forward movement are not preaching any equality in poverty, but an equality in the means of gaining a livelihood and in winning a competence. They are not crying out against business or the business man, but against the unscrupulous and the unfair in business and those whose business methods are predatory, corrupt and monopolistic."

The Lords have again registered their hostility to Home Rule. They can do so once more, and then, if the present Ministry holds out, a third passage of the bill by the Commons will result in its enactment. The peers can delay, but they can no longer prevent progress. That a Home Ruler has been elected to Parliament even in Ulster is highly significant. His majority was narrow, but it was only recently that Ulster was going to put 100,000 men in the field to resist submission to an Irish Parliament.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE STATE'S BUSINESS

To make every state department that regulates a branch of business or industry a revenue producer and self-supporting is an ambition of Governor Cox.

The Governor has informed leaders in the general assembly and finance committee chairmen he will insist that appropriations for running the state government and institutions shall not exceed the income. He wants his administration to end with a treasury surplus and not a deficit.

To the end that regulatory departments shall not be a drain on the state he will recommend legislation aimed to make them at least self supporting insofar as such a system seems just and practicable.
The executive has asked State Treasurer Brennan to investigate the financial condition of each department and obtain information of the source and amount of revenue and the cost of maintenance.

Orders have been already issued by the Executive to the heads of the departments of banks and banking and building and loan associations to draft measures that will provide sufficient revenue to pay all operating expenses of the same.

The automobile department has since its establishment been not only self-supporting but has yielded a surplus each year to the county good roads funds, and under the administration of Secretary of State Graves this net revenue has been greatly augmented each year.

Certain other state departments headed by examining boards, state examiners and commissioners will be brought up to a self-sustaining basis if it can in justice be done.

Dissipating Business Fears.

(Enquirer)—The conviction grows upon the country that the course of the incoming administration will be one that will contribute materially to the sound advancement of legiti-mate business and that such interests as shall keep within the laws of the land will have absolutely nothing to fear from the plans or policies of President Wilson.

In a recent speech in the United States Senate, Senator O'Gorman of New York, who is ranked high as a leader of Progressive Democrats, advised his constituents of his association and the confidence of all who are to be reviewed
with each consideration of the issues and problems of the late period.

His prediction was marked, and his presentation of the facts was fair and could not be successfully challenged by his political opponents.

Taken as a statement of Democratic ideas to be carried out in and by administrative action, it was thoroughly progressive and at the same time carried with it nothing that in any way indicated injury or distress to the material interests of the people or of fair business in any form.

The assuring words of Senator O'Gorman have had a profound effect upon the sentiment of those deeply interested in having the present prosperous times continue,
and the result has been the growth of business confidence and the dissipation of lingering fears.

It must not be forgotten in consideration of affairs that a Democratic House of Representatives has been in existence nearly two years and has already placed much legislation upon the statute books.

Speaker Clark, Chairman Underwood and other leaders in the House and Senate have received the approval of their work by the majority of the electors in the United States through the election of many more Democrats to the next

House and by the securing of the control of the Senate by the Democratic party.

The remarkable increase in the Democratic strength in both Senate and House of the next Congress cannot be construed otherwise than as an indorsement of the work of the Democratic legislators

up to the date of the November election.

The vote of confidence was so strong, so decisive, so overwhelming, it must be accepted as evidence of the country's faith in the party, its policies and its leaders.

Outing fashions night robes and cigarettes reduced in price at

ROE EMERSON'S
Cor. Third and Main.

OPERATIONS ARE BEGUN BY SWISHER & SON

The cigar manufacturers owned by J. H. Swisher & Son began operations in full force today, Newark, Wellston and Ironton this morning and Chillicothe noon. The arrangements between the former partners were satisfactorily made and the court ordered Receiver W.
C. Metz to turn over all the property to the new owners.

Mr. Carl Swisher said today that orders had been sent for material to increase the business and that in a short time the output of the Newark plant would be doubled.

Mr. Harry Swisher has not yet completed his plans for the future, and could not give any definite information as to his future plans.

If we could see ourselves as others see us, we would all be possibilities.

A seat in a crowded car is worth two in an empty one.

Big coon roast Thursday night at Gallagher's Cafe, 19 West Main street.

43

OUR 5 PER CENT

Certificates of Deposit are the Safest and Most Desirable Investments.

The Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay Street, Columbus, O.

3. Prompt payment of interest.

The mail brings it to your door each six months. Owning your own mortgage, you sometimes have to wait on your interest, because of the sickness of the borrower, or other cause. Not so with our certificates.
Interest on them is paid promptly.
Assets $6,000,000, all secured by first mortgages.

Men's heavy weight trousers go at reduced prices during the Clearance
Sale at ROE EMERSON'S
Cor. Third and Main.

43

Feb. 5 In American History.

1725—James Otis, patriotic orator and writer, born; killed by lightning
May 23, 1783. William Miller, founder of the sect of Millerites,
born in Pittsfield, Mass.; died 1843.

1803—Henry Laurens, former United States senator from Massachusetts; died; born 1757.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow—
Sun sets 5:22, rises 7:06. Ash Wednesday; beginning of Lent. Evening stars:
Venus, Saturn. Morning stars: Saturn, Jupiter, Mars.)

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

The Business Man.
The following health rules for business men were compiled by three of the leading physicians of London:

Never smoke late.

Get a good free air.

Surf bath.

Pure water.

Plenty of sunshine.

One hour's rest a day.

One day's rest a week.

One week, and once a month.

One good day once a year.

Brown waters should have plenty of sleep.

A period's visit to the dentist.

A solid breakfast, a solid supper, a light lunch at midday.

Devote one hour to each meal.

Avoid all business talk at mealtimes.

Have no fats in food.

Be moderate in diet.

LICKING MAN APPOINTED TO STATE POSITION

Auditor of State Donahay Names J.
Leroy Clifton as County Examiner—Formerly of Homer.

Columbus, Feb. 5.—Auditor of State Donahay today made announcement of his appointment of assistant county and assistant state examiners.
Assistant county examiners are George L. Thompson, Ross County; F. P.
Householder, Mahoning; J. Leroy
Clifton, Licking; E. K. Barrett, Belmont;
W. F. Bowen, Hocking, and F. G. Jones, Ashland.

The new appointee from Licking county is a son of Oliver Clifton of Etna township, and has been prominent among the school teachers of the county, having been at one time superintendent of the schools at

Homer, O.

At present Mr. Clifton is an employee in the office of the state commissioner of common schools, and is recognized as a thoroughly capable man, whose friends in Licking congratulated him on his appointment.

The Mahoning county appointee, Frank P. Householder, is also a Licking county man, and is very well known by all who have had any dealings with the county schools. He is in every way qualified for a first class examiner.

Fifty cent Hockey Caps reduced to twenty-five cents at
ROE EMERSON'S.

MANUFACTURERS WENT TO COLUMBUS TO PROTEST LAW

Several representatives of Newark manufacturing industries went to Columbus this afternoon to personally protest to Governor Cox against the passage of the so-called Green bill, providing a new feature of employers' liability insurance. Among those who went were Harry Davis,
W. E. Miller, Clarence Heisey, Fred
Wolton, William Gardner, Frank Pitzgibbon, Walter J. Powers and Jed Reese. Other representatives of Newark industries will go on other trains or will meet in Columbus.

President Fred C. Evans and Secretary W. C. Wells of the Newark Board of Trade were asked to accompany the delegation.

All sweaters reduced in price at
ROE EMERSON'S.
Cor. Third and Main.

Nor, is it possible for the Trust promoters to corner all the sunshine.

The beauty about happiness is that no man can keep it all to himself.

CHANGE OF HEART.

I used to think, when I was digging gravel, and whacking wood, to gain a home a day, and when I watched the rich ones pass me, travel, my path obscure was but rocky way. I mopped my brow with my old red bandanna and longed to bask on downy beds of ease and live on birds and terrapin and manna, and oysters fried, and rich imported cheese. My wounded heart with anger used to quiver, when noon time came, and I sat down to eat, and filled myself with onions, bread and liver and moldy kraut and pickled potatoe's feet. But now, alas, that I am rich as Croesus, and live on quails, and scrambled peacock's tongue, I tell my hands in front where all my grease is, and sigh and yearn for days when I was young. Where native meet I sit and wield the gavel, my face each day driving gravel, when I could eat in forty dialects! The<br

IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED, PLEASE TRY "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Nothing like this delicious fruit laxative to cleanse your stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, gases, poisons and clogged-up waste.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something tonight."

Most people shrink from a physician, they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills. It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit, of eating coarse food, of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, with out gripes, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of delicious figs, scanna and aromatics, it can not cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

lamentations, and the fall of the Roman empire was a mere trifle compared with our broken home, Ohio. "Oh, how dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood.—But I think my mind is wandering.

"Grapes and wine, maple syrup, plenty of peaches, but no lemons, but why go on, when at the Ohio table are splendid samples of native Buckeyes who were brought up on all these good things."

"If Ohio had nothing else in her favor she would wear the laurel wreath, for she is the mother of six presidents, two of whom lie in those splendid crypts at Canton and Cleveland. And the women. No flights of oratory can do them justice. I have neither the time nor the rhetoric to soar, but we all love our fair daughters of Ohio, our Travel Class president, Mrs. Willis O. Vance."

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Sewing club, and a number of guests met yesterday at the home of Mrs. John Leidigh of Hudson avenue. During the afternoon the hostess served an elegant two course luncheon.

In the various rooms, jonquils and greenery were used with a pretty effect. Mrs. Leidigh's guests were: Mrs. A. H. Rickert, Mrs. William P. Miller, Mrs. A. S. Mitchell, Mrs. J. R. Davies, Mrs. G. W. Steffe, Mrs. William Tucker, Miss Mary Miller, Miss Christine Smootz, and Miss Clara Davies.

One of the pretty society weddings of the early spring will be that of Miss Lillian Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Miller, to Mr. Clyde Irwin, which will take place on the evening of March 19 at the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The bridal party will consist of Miss Mary Louise Rank as maid of honor, and Miss Lorena Miller, Miss Edna Martin, Miss Clara Scott, Miss Lela Comes of Columbus, will act as bridesmaids. Mr. Irwin's best man will be Grover Hart, while Stanley Stater, Raymond Vanatta, Charles Ward, and

Friends and relatives of W. E. Warrington of Cherry Valley surprised Mr. Warrington and family Tuesday night when an oyster supper was served. Games were played during the evening while the supper was being prepared. Those present were O. G. Warrington and family, G. A. Warrington and family, Marian Warrington and family and A. E. Stiles and family.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Edwards in Clinton street last evening in honor of Mrs. John P. Clark of Pittsburgh who is visiting friends in this city. About twenty-five friends made up the party. Light refreshments were served.

The Sans Soucie club met with Miss May Ayers at her home in West Church street last evening. After an enjoyable evening with cards, an elaborate dinner was served the members. The first prize was awarded to Miss Clare Copeland, while Miss Anna Hinger captured second prize. Miss Christine Baker of Sandusky and Miss Evelyn Canfield were guests of the evening.

CARLTON—MANSFIELD. Harry E. Carlton of Columbus and Miss Jessie L. Mansfield, also of that city, came to Newark Tuesday afternoon and reported to the office of Squire D. M. Jones, who joined them in matrimony. The couple returned to Columbus where they will make their future home. The bride and her people are well known to "Squire" Jones and it was her wish that he perform the ceremony.

A number of West Locust street residents enjoyed a bob sled ride about the city Tuesday night, followed by an elaborate oyster supper at the home of Mr. Hooper Franklin in West Locust street.

The following persons made up the party: Mrs. Mary Hotherr, Mrs. Max Binder, Misses Ethel Franklin, Marie Hotherr, Anna Hotherr, Clara Hotherr, Florence Binder, Messrs. Hooper Franklin, Earl and Max Binder.

One of the Sunday school classes of the Central Church of Christ held a business meeting in the basement of the church last evening. After the business meeting a social evening was enjoyed. Light refreshments were served.

The meeting of the O. N. T. Sewing club announced for Tuesday evening was postponed for one week.

There is also this to say for the Scotch: Most of the bagpipe playing is done by the Italians.

A man is pretty well satisfied with his lot, whatever it is, if it furnishes him with opportunity to do a good deal of kicking.

Every game has its following, but

Any ball player can hit .300 or

Day Shirer of Cleveland ushers. Little Georgeana Val will carry the ring, and Miss Nellie Flory of Granville and Mary Simpson will hold the ribbons.

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. F. Hall of West Main street yesterday. Prizes for the game were received by Mrs. P. J. Glancy, first and Mrs. John Wintermute, second. At the conclusion of the game covers were placed at the small tables and light refreshments were served. Substitute guests were Mrs. Leo Davis, Mrs. Elmer Moore and Mrs. Walter Daugherty.

The February meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. S. Wickham, 164 East Main street, Thursday, February 6, at 2:30 p.m.

The following program will be given: Devotional, Wisdom—Mrs. Pine. Educational Review—Mrs. Winn. Music—Members.

Mystic Box—Mrs. Cosway. All members of church cordially invited.

Monday's meeting of the Investigators club was held with Mrs. Jennifer Waiver of Eddy street. An interesting program as follows was given: Civics—Mrs. Waiver. Eugenics—Mrs. Turner. Sanitation in the Home—Miss Gray. Critic—Mrs. Eugene Ball.

The ladies of the East Division of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will give a winter picnic at the home of Mrs. Grant McPherson, 34 North avenue, Thursday evening. Each lady is asked to bring a light lunch.

A jolly crowd of young people enjoyed a bob-ride last night to the home of C. R. Hartshorn on the Granville road. The evening was spent in playing games and music and everyone present had a delightful time. A delicious oyster supper was served at one large table.

Those enjoying the bob-ride were: Misses Edna Bright, Maude Sanford, Emma Armentrout, Joanna Brown, Gladys Thompson Irwin and Messrs. Walter Pine, Durham Plyler, Charles Gardner, Harold Roley, James Armentrout and Julian Ball. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. C. M. Brown. At a late hour all enjoyed the ride home, after declaring their hostesses royal entertainers.

To meet their house guest, Mrs. P. M. Begien and mother, Mrs. H. L. Kroll, Tuesday entertained a number of friends at their home in Hudson avenue, complimenting Mrs. H. M. Begien of Boston, mother of Mr. Begien. The guests were asked to bring their sewing and the time was thusly spent. Green and white formed the color scheme, being carried out by ferns, smilax, white carnations and narcissus.

The guest list included, besides the honor guest, Mrs. W. H. Mazey, Mrs. Charles McGruder, Mrs. Frank Cherry, Mrs. D. J. Price, Mrs. D. S. White, Mrs. Jay Cooper, Mrs. Fred Glechauf, Mrs. Wright Wyeth, Mrs. Thomas Meredith, Mrs. George Roley, Mrs. W. G. Corne, Mrs. E. G. Vanatta, and Miss Lucy Wyeth.

Friends and relatives of W. E. Warrington of Cherry Valley surprised Mr. Warrington and family Tuesday night when an oyster supper was served. Games were played during the evening while the supper was being prepared. Those present were O. G. Warrington and family, G. A. Warrington and family, Marian Warrington and family and A. E. Stiles and family.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Edwards in Clinton street last evening in honor of Mrs. John P. Clark of Pittsburgh who is visiting friends in this city. About twenty-five friends made up the party. Light refreshments were served.

The Philathaea Bible class of the Fifth Street Baptist church will render the following program in the lecture room of the church on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. Admission free.

Orchestra. Acting Dialogue. "Those Ladies."

Piano solo. "Nearer My God to Thee." Child Dialect Selections—1. What the Little Girl Said. 2. The Story of a Peach. 3. D. D. 4. D. D. 5. D. D. 6. D. D. 7. D. D. 8. D. D. 9. D. D. 10. D. D. 11. D. D. 12. D. D. 13. D. D. 14. D. D. 15. D. D. 16. D. D. 17. D. D. 18. D. D. 19. D. D. 20. D. D. 21. D. D. 22. D. D. 23. D. D. 24. D. D. 25. D. D. 26. D. D. 27. D. D. 28. D. D. 29. D. D. 30. D. D. 31. D. D. 32. D. D. 33. D. D. 34. D. D. 35. D. D. 36. D. D. 37. D. D. 38. D. D. 39. D. D. 40. D. D. 41. D. D. 42. D. D. 43. D. D. 44. D. D. 45. D. D. 46. D. D. 47. D. D. 48. D. D. 49. D. D. 50. D. D. 51. D. D. 52. D. D. 53. D. D. 54. D. D. 55. D. D. 56. D. D. 57. D. D. 58. D. D. 59. D. D. 60. D. D. 61. D. D. 62. D. D. 63. D. D. 64. D. D. 65. D. D. 66. D. D. 67. D. D. 68. D. D. 69. D. D. 70. D. D. 71. D. D. 72. D. D. 73. D. D. 74. D. D. 75. D. D. 76. D. D. 77. D. D. 78. D. D. 79. D. D. 80. D. D. 81. D. D. 82. D. D. 83. D. D. 84. D. D. 85. D. D. 86. D. D. 87. D. D. 88. D. D. 89. D. D. 90. D. D. 91. D. D. 92. D. D. 93. D. D. 94. D. D. 95. D. D. 96. D. D. 97. D. D. 98. D. D. 99. D. D. 100. D. D. 101. D. D. 102. D. D. 103. D. D. 104. D. D. 105. D. D. 106. D. D. 107. D. D. 108. D. D. 109. D. D. 110. D. D. 111. D. D. 112. D. D. 113. D. D. 114. D. D. 115. D. D. 116. D. D. 117. D. D. 118. D. D. 119. D. D. 120. D. D. 121. D. D. 122. D. D. 123. D. D. 124. D. D. 125. D. D. 126. D. D. 127. D. D. 128. D. D. 129. D. D. 130. D. D. 131. D. D. 132. D. D. 133. D. D. 134. D. D. 135. D. D. 136. D. D. 137. D. D. 138. D. D. 139. D. D. 140. D. D. 141. D. D. 142. D. D. 143. D. D. 144. D. D. 145. D. D. 146. D. D. 147. D. D. 148. D. D. 149. D. D. 150. D. D. 151. D. D. 152. D. D. 153. D. D. 154. D. D. 155. D. D. 156. D. D. 157. D. D. 158. D. D. 159. D. D. 160. D. D. 161. D. D. 162. D. D. 163. D. D. 164. D. D. 165. D. D. 166. D. D. 167. D. D. 168. D. D. 169. D. D. 170. D. D. 171. D. D. 172. D. D. 173. D. D. 174. D. D. 175. D. D. 176. D. D. 177. D. D. 178. D. D. 179. D. D. 180. D. D. 181. D. D. 182. D. D. 183. D. D. 184. D. D. 185. D. D. 186. D. D. 187. D. D. 188. D. D. 189. D. D. 190. D. D. 191. D. D. 192. D. D. 193. D. D. 194. D. D. 195. D. D. 196. D. D. 197. D. D. 198. D. D. 199. D. D. 200. D. D. 201. D. D. 202. D. D. 203. D. D. 204. D. D. 205. D. D. 206. D. D. 207. D. D. 208. D. D. 209. D. D. 210. D. D. 211. D. D. 212. D. D. 213. D. D. 214. D. D. 215. D. D. 216. D. D. 217. D. D. 218. D. D. 219. D. D. 220. D. D. 221. D. D. 222. D. D. 223. D. D. 224. D. D. 225. D. D. 226. D. D. 227. D. D. 228. D. D. 229. D. D. 230. D. D. 231. D. D. 232. D. D. 233. D. D. 234. D. D. 235. D. D. 236. D. D. 237. D. D. 238. D. D. 239. D. D. 240. D. D. 241. D. D. 242. D. D. 243. D. D. 244. D. D. 245. D. D. 246. D. D. 247. D. D. 248. D. D. 249. D. D. 250. D. D. 251. D. D. 252. D. D. 253. D. D. 254. D. D. 255. D. D. 256. D. D. 257. D. D. 258. D. D. 259. D. D. 260. D. D. 261. D. D. 262. D. D. 263. D. D. 264. D. D. 265. D. D. 266. D. D. 267. D. D. 268. D. D. 269. D. D. 270. D. D. 271. D. D. 272. D. D. 273. D. D. 274. D. D. 275. D. D. 276. D. D. 277. D. D. 278. D. D. 279. D. D. 280. D. D. 281. D. D. 282. D. D. 283. D. D. 284. D. D. 285. D. D. 286. D. D. 287. D. D. 288. D. D. 289. D. D. 290. D. D. 291. D. D. 292. D. D. 293. D. D. 294. D. D. 295. D. D. 296. D. D. 297. D. D. 298. D. D. 299. D. D. 300. D. D. 301. D. D. 302. D. D. 303. D. D. 304. D. D. 305. D. D. 306. D. D. 307. D. D. 308. D. D. 309. D. D. 310. D. D. 311. D. D. 312. D. D. 313. D. D. 314. D. D. 315. D. D. 316. D. D. 317. D. D. 318. D. D. 319. D. D. 320. D. D. 321. D. D. 322. D. D. 323. D. D. 324. D. D. 325. D. D. 326. D. D. 327. D. D. 328. D. D. 329. D. D. 330. D. D. 331. D. D. 332. D. D. 333. D. D. 334. D. D. 335. D. D. 336. D. D. 337. D. D. 338. D. D. 339. D. D. 340. D. D. 341. D. D. 342. D. D. 343. D. D. 344. D. D. 345. D. D. 346. D. D. 347. D. D. 348. D. D. 349. D. D. 350. D. D. 351. D. D. 352. D. D. 353. D. D. 354. D. D. 355. D. D. 356. D. D. 357. D. D. 358. D. D. 359. D. D. 360. D. D. 361. D. D. 362. D. D. 363. D. D. 364. D. D. 365. D. D. 366. D. D. 367. D. D. 368. D. D. 369. D. D. 370. D. D. 371. D. D. 372. D. D. 373. D. D. 374. D. D. 375. D. D. 376. D. D. 377. D. D. 378. D. D. 379. D. D. 380. D. D. 381. D. D. 382. D. D. 383. D. D. 384. D. D. 385. D. D. 386. D. D. 387. D. D. 388. D. D. 389. D. D. 390. D. D. 391. D. D. 392. D. D. 393. D. D. 394. D. D. 395. D. D. 396. D. D. 397. D. D. 398. D. D. 399. D. D. 400. D. D. 401. D. D. 402. D. D. 403. D. D. 404. D. D. 405. D. D. 406. D. D. 407. D. D. 408. D. D. 409. D. D. 410. D. D. 411. D. D. 412. D. D. 413. D. D. 414. D. D. 415. D. D. 416. D. D. 417. D. D. 418. D. D. 419. D. D. 420. D. D. 421. D. D. 422. D. D. 423. D. D. 424. D. D. 425. D. D. 426. D. D. 427. D. D. 428. D. D. 429. D. D. 430. D. D. 431. D. D. 432. D. D. 433. D. D. 434. D. D. 435. D. D. 436. D. D. 437. D. D. 438. D. D. 439. D. D. 440. D. D. 441. D. D. 442. D. D. 443. D. D. 444. D. D. 445. D. D. 446. D. D. 447. D. D. 448. D. D. 449. D. D. 450. D. D. 451. D. D. 452. D. D. 453. D. D. 454. D. D. 455. D. D. 456. D. D

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Plant That Grew Toward
The Light

—What do you think of that?

J ACK had called, "Hello, Evelyn: your flower isn't going to grow any more."

Evelyn was trying to coax a narcissus bulb to bloom by Easter. "Seems to me it hasn't much light back there by the fire," daddy said, peering at it through his glasses.

"Well, the teacher at our school said we were to be sure and keep them nice and warm, but if I put the flowerpot by the fire the sun doesn't shine on it. If I put it by the window it is too cold at night," answered Evelyn.

"Well, I should think it might be a good thing to have the plant in the window during the day as long as the sun shines and to bring it nearer to the fire at night," suggested daddy.

"I hadn't thought of that," Evelyn said.

"Well, just try it," daddy advised. "Light does wonderful things for plants."

"Once on a time a little potato was dropped on the floor of a cellar. It was warm and comfortable, and the little potato said to itself: 'It feels like spring here. Perhaps I ought to get up and grow!'

"So the little potato began to put out its leaves, but it didn't know which way to grow. One morning, however, a little ray of sunlight came creeping into the cellar through one of the windows. It was no wider than a pencil and it did not reach very far into the cellar, but the little potato saw the sunbeam and cried: 'Oh, welcome, fairy sunbeam; how I love your pretty face! I shall reach out until I can follow you into the beautiful outdoor world!'

"Every day the little potato grew a little more until it had crept across the cellar floor and almost reached the sunbeam.

"Then the cook came down to the cellar and saw the sunbeam playing over her jars of preserves and glasses of jelly.

"Dear me! this will never do!" cried Mrs. Cook. And a few days after that a man came down to the cellar, and he fixed the window so that the sunbeam couldn't get into the cellar.

"After awhile the cook came down with a candle. She wanted to see how well the window had been fixed. She saw the potato plant.

"Now, what do you think of that?" the cook cried—a little potato plant growing on the dark cellar floor! "It's a brave little thing. I'll take it up and put it into a flowerpot. Then it can grow in the kitchen window." And the next morning when the little sunbeam got up the first thing that it saw was the little potato plant on the cook's kitchen window, turning eagerly to greet it."

IN PARAGRAPHS

MASONIC CALENDAR.

Acme Lodge, F. & A. M.

Thursday, Feb. 13, 7 p. m. Regular.

Newark Lodge, No. 97, F. & A. M.

Regular Friday, Feb. 7.

Bigelow Council No. 7, R. & S. M.

Wednesday, Feb. 5, 7 p. m. Regular.

St. Luke Commandery, No. 34 K.T.

Order of Red Cross, Tuesday, Feb.

11, at 7 p. m. Order of Temple

Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 7 p. m.

Warren Chapter No. 7, R. A. M.

Monday, Feb. 10, M. M. degree.

Monday, Feb. 17, Past, and M. E.

Monday, Feb. 24, Royal Arch.

Junior Order U. A. M.

Licking Council No. 30. Meets every Tuesday night at Red Men's hall, West Park Place.

Loyal Order of Moose Calendar.

Meets every Thursday evening.

House Committee every Wednesday evening.

Order of Owls Calendar.

The Owls will hold their meetings

every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at Ardsley Hall, West Main street.

1-37d

Mardi Program Tomorrow.

A special return engagement of "The Little Minister" in three reels.

Fancy and Tailored Waists $70. to $15. Children's Coats, $15.00 up.

LONG.

3-6d

Announcement.

Present this coupon and get one dollar's worth of dental work free.

Teeth extracted without pain.

COUPON.

Dr. A. V. Davis, Dentist, 61/2 West

Main, over City Drug Store.

2-6d

The LICKING LAUNDRY irons,

the flat irons free in family wash

Auto 1955. Bell 863. 17-27d

Spring Water.

Chalybeate Spring Water is pure.

For prompt deliveries call Auto

phone 1218 or Bell 741-X. Office

6 1/2 W. Main, over City Drug Store.

2-6d

Notice.

Household goods of Mary C. Cole,

deceased. Sale will commence

every article is sold. Mrs. phone

3700, Roy in C.R. 10 South Fourth street.

3-6d

"Little Minister" at the Mazda tomorrow.

It

Hats will never be cheaper than

what they are this week at

CLOUSE & SCHAUWERKERS.

4-6d

Anna Lingafelter, dressmaker, has moved to 111 East Church.

4-6d

"Little Minister" at the Mazda tomorrow.

It

Hats will never be cheaper than

what they are this week at

CLOUSE & SCHAUWERKERS.

4-6d

Ladies' $1.00 Union Suits, 870

11c. Flannelette, 8c. 35c. Veiling, 4-6d

25c. LONG.

3-6d

Notice.

Household goods of Mary C. Cole,

deceased. Sale will commence

every article is sold. Mrs. phone

3700, Roy in C.R. 10 South Fourth

street.

3-6d

"Little Minister" at the Mazda tomorrow.

It

Who does Upholstering? Phone

Mylius.

6-1-ws-1f

Feed, Feed, Feed.

C. S. Ostrom & Co., Indiana St.

Both Phones.

Who cleans carpets? Phone

Mylius.

6-1-ws-1f

Who repairs feathers? Phone

Mylius.

6-1-ws-1f

Guns and Revolvers repaired at Parkinson's, Elmwood Court.

mw-f-1f

Whatsoever Circle.

The Whatsoever Circle of The King's Daughters will hold a meet-

Fifty Years Ago Today.

Feb. 5.

Treaty signed by England and Denmark for the marriage of the Prince of Wales (the King Edward VII) and the Danish princess Alexandra. The prince took his seat in the house of lords the first time.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

The De Lesseps Panama canal shares fed 21 francs ($5.25) in Paris.

Headache? It's Your Liver

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic is Needed.

Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.

Anyone who takes Mr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the moment he suspects his liver or bowels, will never have a headache.

There is no necessity when you take Olive Tablets, of swallowing them up with nasty, sickening, piping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic salts; they are a purely vegetable compound and mixed with Olive Oil, sugar, etc., easy to take, and never grip or cause weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bed time just to prevent disorder of the liver, indigestion, bad breath, pinches, headache, etc.

Dr. Edwards, calls it an old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles.

Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a month's all its own" fee and 25¢ per box.

The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

OBITUARY

S. W. VAN KIRK.

Syreno W. Van Kirk was born in Union township, Licking county, O., March 16, 1852, died at his home in Columbus, O., Jan. 21, 1913, of apoplexy, at the age of 60 years, 10 months and 9 days. He grew to manhood at the place of his birth.

Then went to Union county, near Richwood, where he married Callie Fish Nov. 13, 1878. Mrs. Van Kirk died in 1875. He again married Mary Maz at St. Peter, Wayne county. This union was blessed with two children. The son died in infancy. The daughter and an invalid wife survive. Mr. Van Kirk also leaves one sister and one brother. For the past 32 years Mr. Van Kirk lived in Columbus, O.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness and the beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our dear wife and mother, W. E. Lyon and Children.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the dear ones who gave us so much sympathy and kindness in our sad bereavement, we give our thanks to Rev. L. C. Sparks, Mr. Criss and Dr. Supt., also for lovely floral offerings, and Mrs. Bonshire and Miss Anderson for their most beautiful songs. Their memory will always be cherished by loving hearts, Mrs. Hague and Children.

SECOND SEMESTER STARTS.

The second semester at Denison started Wednesday morning at Denison University, a number of new students entering. The attendance for this semester is much larger than last.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

Scott-Griggs Co. at O. C. Jones' office, over Ed. Doe's store, Feb. 11, 1913, at 3 p. m. O. C. Jones, chairman.

RAZOR'S COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bigelow Council, No. 7, R. & S. M., will be held this evening.

NOTICE.

The present scale of wages and hours will remain the same as last year for Union Carpenters.

C. J. BAKER, Pres.

C. A. GREGG, R. Sec.

Razors home, 25c. Handles pur.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE DELUGE

A Scathing Arraignment of the Higher Critics.

THEIR COURSE DISHONEST.

Pastor Russell Defends Biblical Account of the Deluge, Which is Philosophically Attested by History and Geology—Jesus and the Apostles and Science Support the Genesis Record—Higher Critics Held Responsible For Approaching Anarchy. Faithful Bible Students Needed to Point Men Back to God.

Brooklyn, February 2—After an absence of several months, Pastor Russell again addressed the Brooklyn Congregation, now generally known as "The Bible Students." Needless to say, the Tabernacle was not large enough. The largest auditorium of the Academy of Music was crowded. The Pastor's text was,

"As it was in the days of Noah, so also shall it be in the days of the Son of Man."—Luke 17:26.

The address opened with a scathing arraignment of the Higher Critics. Our richly endowed colleges, he declared, are undermining faith in the Bible, which means faith in a personal God, and are substituting a scant recognition of the laws of nature, devoid of sympathy or mercy. Practically every minister graduated during the last twelve years has been an agnostic and a believer in human evolution. Disbelief in the Bible account of man's creation in God's image, means disbelief also in a fall from that image, disbelief in the need of redemption and reconciliation, and disbelief in the necessity for the Restitution to be accomplished by Messiah's Kingdom.—Acts 3:19-21.

"I do not question the sincerity of the Higher Critics. Experiences of my own along the same line forty years ago give me great sympathy for them," said Pastor Russell. He insisted, however, that it is not honorable for those who have abandoned the creeds to pose before the public as supporters of the creeds, and to draw salaries and receive honorary titles for undermining the faith of the people, while posing as the representatives of Christ and the Bible. He declared such a course dishonest and dishonorable.

The Deluge Corroborated by History.

"I would that I might lure back to the Word of God some of the noble minds now arrayed against it! I know their difficulty. In their minds they associate the unreasonable theories of our creeds with the Bible, believing it to be the foundation for the gross darkness and superstition which once blinded us all. Would that I could show them, as I now see it, the fallacy of this position—show them that the Bible is in most violent conflict with the errors of the past, and that it teaches from Genesis to Revelation a Divine Plan so wonderful that all may be sure that only a God of Wisdom and Love could have devised it, and only those moved by His Holy Spirit could have written it."

"But," quoth the Pastor, "the Bible truly says that we may see the deep things of God only by the illumination of the Holy Spirit, and that illumination is promised only to the sanctified. The fearful thought impresses us that by no means all of the professed ministers of Christ are sanctified and in a condition of heart to be guided into a knowledge of the Truth."

The speaker held that the Higher Critics approach every Bible topic from the standpoint of unbelief, and declared that if they would reverse their position and seek for corroboration of the Bible story, their success would be better. These critics, exploring the ruins of Babylon, found baked clay tablets rudely picturing the Ark, and saying a few words about a general deluge. Instead of saying that this confirms the Bible thought, they reverse the proposition, and say that the Israelites in captivity in Babylon doubtless drew their story of the Deluge from the Babylonian legends.

How silly to suppose that the beautiful, interesting and connected narrative of Genesis could ever have been drawn from a few poor, miserable, fragmentary words which the Babylonians have recorded on the subject! The Genesis account gives the genealogy of Noah in a most remarkable manner—the exact day and year and month of his life in which the Deluge occurred, the number of days of rain, how long the flood prevailed, etc., etc. Before the finding of the Babylonian tablets, the Higher Critics held that the entire story of the Deluge was a myth, and that Jesus and the Apostles had been deceived when they quoted Moses in respect to it.

Geology Confirms the Mosaic Deluge.

Pastor Russell promised that next Sunday he would take up the moral reasons leading up to and justifying the destruction of the human family with the Deluge, as the matter is set forth in the Scriptures. He might not orally address the same persons, but through his sermons, printed weekly in hundreds of newspapers, those desiring might continue with him the study of the subject. Today he wished to deal with the facts of nature and briefly to show that they fully confirm the words of Jesus, the Apostles and Moses respecting the Deluge.

The great stumbling-block heretofore has been the supposition that the story of the Deluge implies flat earth, and that such a flood of waters rising higher than the mountains should be recognized as an impossibility, since we know that the earth is a sphere. Thus does shallow thinking, called "wisdom of this world," set in defiance the Wisdom of God and His Word—to its own confusion.

As the study of astronomy has progressed, the Vaillian theory respecting creation has come forward. It shows that the earth when in a molten condition must have thrown off various minerals in gaseous form. These, cooling, would become more or less separated from each other, according to density, and must have constituted great rings and bands about the earth, similar to those which we perceive encircling Saturn and Jupiter. As the earth cooled, these rings would obtain separate motions of their own, because of their distance; yet always they would tend to gravitate toward the earth. The circumambient air, or firmament, would keep these from immediate precipitation. Gradually they would spread out as a great canopy, gravitating more and more toward the poles, because of the greater centrifugal force at the equator. Finally, the accumulation at the poles would become so great as to overcome the resistance of the atmosphere, and cause precipitations, which would flow toward the equator.

The theory is that many such deluges had been precipitated upon the earth before man was created, and that from these came many of the mineral deposits of earth. Only one such ring remained when man was created. Indeed this was not a ring, but had come to the state in which it acted as a canopy. As the last of these rings, it consisted of pure water. As a canopy it refracted the sun's rays much as would the roof of a hot-house, so that the temperature of earth was uniform—the same at the poles as at the equator. Divine Wisdom foreknew the condition of things which would prevail at the time of the Deluge, and hence delayed the breaking of this great envelope of waters until that time.

Frozen in the Solid Ice.
Not long ago, in Siberia, a mammoth was found with grass between its teeth, frozen solid in a great basin of ice, which was so clear that the animal could be seen long before the ice melted enough for it to be conveniently examined. Similarly, a deer was found in the polar regions, with undigested grass in its stomach, proving clearly that the catastrophe which overtook it and froze it solidly in the ice was a sudden one—just such as did occur, according to the Vaillian theory.

The breaking of the watery envelope made the change at the poles sudden, and sent a great flood of waters over the earth toward the equator. Thus came the great Glacial Period, and some of the great glaciers, or icebergs, carried over North America, cut great gullies, valleys, crevices, canyons. Geologists have traced the course of some of these and charted them.

Equatorial Heat Was Intense.
As the cold at the poles was extreme to form the great ice-caps covering the earth and only gradually melting away—so the heat at the equator must have been proportionately extreme. The intense heat at the equator, warming the ocean, set up ocean currents. These for the past four thousand years have been gradually modifying the arctic regions—advancing the temperate zone further and further toward the poles, and more and more reducing the ice-caps, bringing them toward the equator as great icebergs to be melted and sent back warm.

The Ark Divinely Protected.
We naturally inquire, Where was the Ark while such a torrent of water poured over the earth from the poles? How was it that the Ark was kept safe and comparatively quiet in such a time of stress? The answer of faith would be that God, who directed Noah and his family to build the Ark, exercising His Power would undoubtedly protect it.

And now comes forward Prof. George Frederick Wright, the geologist, who tells the world that the region around about Mt. Ararat, where the Ark rested, was apparently at one time the scene of a great eddy. While the waters raged elsewhere, God specially held that part quiet, just as we have often seen a quiet eddy or bay alongside of a swiftly rushing stream. Prof. Wright's deductions respecting the quietness of this little corner of the earth are drawn largely from the fact that he finds there a wonderfully deep soil, which seems to indicate that it was a settling basin for intensely muddy waters in the long ago.

Pastor Russell then drew a lesson from the Deluge in the line of his text. He deduced that the Savior's words do not refer to the wickedness of the antediluvians, and that He did not compare it to the wickedness at the time of His Second Advent, though doubtless a correspondence might have been deducible. The Master's words imply rather that, as the people of Noah's day were quite unconscious of the coming Deluge, so will all mankind be totally unconscious of the great catastrophe which will come upon the world in the end of this Age, preparing the way of Messiah's Kingdom.

The clear teaching of our text is that the Day of the Son of Man, the time of His parousia, or presence, will precede the time of trouble coming upon the world. St. Matthew's account of this same discourse is slightly different and emphasizes the point we are making.

It declares, "Thus shall it be in the presence [presence] of the Son of Man." In other words, the Scriptures clearly teach that the Second Coming of Jesus will be invisible to the world, and visible, even to His people, only by the eye of faith.

During His parousia a sifting, or testing, of His consecrated Church will proceed, and will result in the gathering of all the Elect into the Heavenly Kingdom by the change of the First Resurrection. This will be the full end of the Gospel Age, and the full beginning of the New Age. It is to this time Jesus referred, saying, "Watch ye, therefore and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man."

As soon as the Church shall all have passed beyond the veil into the condition of Heavenly glory—the Kingdom condition—the great time of trouble will fully envelop the earth—"a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation."—Dan. 12:1; Matt. 24:21.

This will be that time of trouble which will be Messiah's revelation of Himself to the world. In it, they will seek the covering, or protection, of the great rocks of society (secret orders) and of the great mountains of earth (earthly governments). (Revelation 6:14-16.) But none of these will be able to deliver them from the fiery trouble (distress) of that day, which will consume every institution out of accord with righteousness, truth, justice. "He shall be revealed * * * in flaming fire, taking vengeance."

The vengeance will not be so much against deluded and ensnared humanity, as against evil principles and the unjust arrangements of the present time. When we say unjust arrangements, we do not wish to be understood that the world is necessarily more unjust than in the past; but rather that, with our increased light and knowledge, more is expected of the present generation than of their forefathers.

From all accounts, we infer that the time of trouble will be sharp and short—"else would no flesh be saved." Messiah's spiritual Kingdom, invisible to men, will come to the rescue. It will have its earthly representatives, and order will soon come out of chaos. Humanity, humbled by the fall of present institutions, will be ready to accept Messiah's Kingdom. We read, therefore, that it will be "the desire of all nations."

It is for us, my beloved hearers, to continue to abide in Christ, to wait for His will in every matter, to wait patiently for His appointed time for our deliverance, and according to our covenant, lay down our lives in the service of the brethren. We remind you of St. Paul's words, "The Day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. When they [the worldly] shall say, Peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that Day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the Day."—1 Thessalonians 5:1-5.

The light now shining is and should be very helpful to us. If we realize that we are living in the "days of the Son of Man"—that the inspection of the Church is now in progress, and that soon the Elect will be complete—this faith will make us the more zealous to make our calling and election sure. Therefore,

"Let us watch and pray,
And labor till the work is done."

Gradually mankind will come to understand. Gradually their eyes of understanding will open, and they will see that it is the "wrath of the Lamb" that causes the "time of trouble" as never was since there was a nation." They will learn the intended lesson.

Some, in reading Jesus' words, "As it was in the days of Noah," have inferred a time of dreadful wickedness in the end of this Age, corresponding to the wickedness of Noah's day. There may or there may not be a parallel in this respect. We merely call attention to the fact that the Master did not say. He said that as in Noah's day humanity were eating, drinking, marrying and building, without realizing that a great change in dispensation was impending, so it will be with mankind in the days of the Son of Man.

In the time of Christ's Second Coming, men will know it not, but will proceed about the ordinary affairs of life—eating, drinking, plaiting, building—and know not, until the great and sudden catastrophe of anarchy is upon them. As literal water swept away eternal things existing before the Flood, so symbolic fire—trouble, destruction—will sweep away the institutions of today, and prepare the way for the new institutions, which the Scriptures describe as the new heavens and the new earth. (Isaiah 65:22; 2 Peter 3:13.) The new heavens will be the new ecclesiastical powers—the Church, the Elect in glory with Christ. The new earth will be the reorganized social arrangement, wholly different from the present.

Whoever expects that the Kingdom will bring an instantaneous Paradise is mistaken. Whoever expects that God's will shall be done on earth as completely as in Heaven the moment Messiah's Kingdom is set up, is mistaken. By Divine appointment, that Kingdom is to last for a thousand years. During that time it will be burning out—consuming—ignorance, superstition, selfishness, sin—root and branch.

All who respond to its blessed influence will thereby be uplifted out of sin and death conditions to human perfection. On the contrary, all who with fullest opportunity shall be resisters of righteousness and lovers of iniquity will be destroyed with Satan in the Second Death—punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord."

REYNOLDS SENTENCED TO THE PEN

Gets Two Years. Although Prosecutor Asks That Maximum Sentence Be Imposed.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Doc Reynolds, indicted for highway robbery, the defendant appeared in court and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for two years.

This negro is considered by the police to be a desperate criminal and his record is such that Prosecutor J. Howard Jones felt constrained to make known, with other circumstances that he felt called upon to ask the court to fix the maximum penalty of 15 years, which he did. The excuse made by the prisoner was that he was drunk when he committed the crime, and Judge C. W. Seward let him off with a comparatively very light sentence.

Franklin National Bank vs. Kate M. Blood et al., an action brought to marshal liens, in which plaintiff sets up in the petition certain judgments. A decree was entered for plaintiff and an order of sale. All questions as to priorities of liens were reserved.

Dora D. McCullough vs. Robert E. McCullough. Plaintiff was granted a decree of alimony in the sum of $100 per month. This case is the outcome of the marital troubles of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. McCullough that have been the cause of the separation of the couple. The doctor is now in Michigan, practicing medicine, having before been before the court here on a criminal charge of non-support of his minor child. On this charge he was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, which was suspended while he paid $30 per month for the child's support, which he has been doing.

The alimony petition was filed Dec. 18, 1912, and in arguing it before the court Wednesday morning, Mr. Phil B. Smythe read some letters received by Dr. McCullough from his enamored Mary Jane Dickson, with whom he is said to be living at present in Michigan.

The allegations are that these letters were found by Mrs. McCullough in the office, labeled as "insurance papers," "receipted bills," etc.

They were of the most fervent character and breathed forth in every line the writer's undying love for her "Ed," and expressing an insatiable desire to be "in his arms," and to feel his "loving caresses and hear his burning words of love." They were through and through disgustingly "mushy" and to be written by a single woman to a married man gave the plaintiff solid ground upon which to base her alimony petition, and the court made a liberal allowance.

It is said that McCullough was a street car conductor in Akron when he met and married Dora D. Shamp, a young country girl. After marriage the husband expressed a desire to study medicine and the couple moved to Columbus. Here the wife took in sewing and afterward went into a millinery store, where for five years she worked, supported her husband and paid his expenses through Stirling Medical College.

The couple soon afterward removed to Newark, where Dr. McCullough, by his ingratiating manner, soon acquired a very lucrative practice. One child, a daughter now 11 years old, was born of the marriage.

The petition then states that in 1911 the defendant left the plaintiff on several occasions and refused to support plaintiff or the child, and proceeds to name Mary Jane Dickson as the one on whom Dr. McCullough began lavishing his affections; that the Dickson woman was a doctor and afterward became the defendant's office girl, where the liaison continued resulting in her leaving Newark, with an agreement that McCullough should follow, which he subsequently did. It was during this interim that most of the letters were written that were read in court.

Smythe & Smythe and Fitz Gibbons & Montgomery are named as plaintiff's attorneys, while McCullough was not represented, although he had said he would fight the case.

Bring your boys in and get them each a suit during the Clearance Sale at ROE EMERSON'S, Cor. Third and Main.

CRESCEANT CITY GIVES GAY FAREWELL TO THE FLESH

Mardi Gras, or Fat Tuesday, comes today and finds all the Latin world on tenterhooks. The word "carnival" is from the Latin "Carnivalis," meaning "farewell to the flesh," and refers to the Lenten season of sackcloth and ashes which is to be ushered in tomorrow. While no carnival on this side of the Atlantic approaches the great festivals of southern Europe, the cities of New Orleans, Buenos Ayres and Rio de Janeiro have Mardi Gras celebrations that in the magnitude of the circus posters are worth going many miles to see. The Crescent City carnival is by far the most magnificent in North America. Today is a legal holiday in the parish of Orleans, and all business will be suspended, except that of preparing the thousands of visitors from their money.

Mardi Gras, say the historians, may be traced back to the pagan feast of the Lupercalia in ancient Rome. It has since become Christianized and Galvanized. The custom of looting at annual pageants on Mardi Gras and the preceding days was inaugurated in New Orleans about 1827. The Krewe of Comus dates from 1857, and is named after the pagan god of mirth and revelry. The Knights of Momus came later, in 1872, and in the same year King Rex, the monarch of the New Orleans festival and ruler of the mystical Isle of Luzon, first arose.

from the waters of the Gulf and was crowned king of the carnival. His arrival is the climax, the spectacular finale, of a month of joy. Pandemonium always greets his arrival, and the mayor gives him the keys of the city hall.

The choice of a Mardi Gras monarch is simple and far from democratic. The honor goes to the citizen of the city who writes the largest check to be applied toward paying the expenses of the festivities. In like wise, his queen consort is the young woman whose proud papa makes the largest contribution to the fund.

Strange signs will greet the eyes of the guest of the Crescent City today. Everybody—except a few who have dined too well the previous night—is on the streets. Staid business men, grave and portly of aspect, don the garb of nymphs and hours, or attire themselves to represent the gods and goddesses of mythology.

The membership of all the carnival organizations is kept a deep, dark secret. On this day and date a New Orleans man may come and go without question from employer or wife. While the populace may enjoy the pageants and other public affairs, the balls and social assemblages are only for invited guests, and—it is said—no amount of money will procure admission. That is as may be. Those invited do not know whom to thank, but one thing is certain—that if an invited guest fails twice to heed the summons, he will never again be asked.

The New Orleans carnival is a social affair, rather than a strictly business proposition, although naturally a large number of business men profit largely from the visitors, and contribute to the fund largely because of profits to come. Yet no merchant or manufacturer is permitted to advertise his wares on any of the floats, and in this respect New Orleans has followed the example of the cities of southern Europe.

"The city that care forgot," the Louisiana metropolis has been called, and today every outward aspect will justify the description. But as for tomorrow, the beginning of Lent, the grim, gray dawn of the morning after—well, nobody in New Orleans today will have time to think of tomorrow.

DON'T SAY
YOU CAN'T EAT

You'll Never Have Stomach Trouble
After You Read This, and Act
On It. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Open Secret.

Thousands of people who hadn't enjoyed a meal for years have given their stomach a new lease of life through the wonder-workers, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They promptly put an end to flatulence, heartburn, distress, such headache dyspepsia, burning sensation, brash, fermentation, and the other ills attendant upon a disordered stomach.

The couple soon afterward removed to Newark, where Dr. McCullough, by his ingratiating manner, soon acquired a very lucrative practice. One child, a daughter now 11 years old, was born of the marriage.

The petition then states that in 1911 the defendant left the plaintiff on several occasions and refused to support plaintiff or the child, and proceeds to name Mary Jane Dickson as the one on whom Dr. McCullough began lavishing his affections; that the Dickson woman was a doctor and afterward became the defendant's office girl, where the liaison continued resulting in her leaving Newark, with an agreement that McCullough should follow, which he subsequently did. It was during this interim that most of the letters were written that were read in court.

</

Opening Our Silk Season

WITH THIS SPECIAL CHARMEUSE AT 98c A YD.

It is double width, 42 inches wide—each in six extended designs in 15 colors. Cream, Leather, Golden Brown, Yellow, King's Blue, Navy, Hunter, Pink, Sky Blue, Rose, Tanpe, Navy and five or six designs on black grounds. All soft colors in this silk soft clinging charmeuse.....98c a yard

OUR DEMONSTRATION AND SPECIAL SALE OF HAIR GOODS

Begins today and lasts all this week. An expert hair demonstrator and hair dresser from one of the largest Hair Importers of the country will give a series of six of their finest switches. The care of the hair will be explained to those who may later visit our new styles of Hair Dressing will be shown. The new display will be the largest line of Hair Goods that we have ever shown. Prices will be the lowest we have ever quoted.

20 in Natural Switches 95c
as low as

22 in. Natural Wavy $1.95
Switches

24 in. Natural Wavy $2.95
Switches

Any shade of hair will be matched to your complete satisfaction. You can not afford to miss this sale. Make it a point to come in this week. See the over 60 styles and

— HAVE YOUR HAIR DRESSED FREE OF CHARGE —

OUR NEW WASH FABRICS FOR SPRING AND SUMMER ARE NOW ON DISPLAY

OUR FOREIGN RATINES 89c Yd.

In all colors 45 inches wide with deep wide lattice work borders are attracting much attention. Plain Ratines and Linen all at low prices.

IMPORTED BATISTS ALL-OVER EMBROIDERED 50c Yd.

You ought to see these richly, charming dress materials for summer before the lime is broken. Solid colored grounds with interesting designs in colors; white grounds with colored figures and solid color French Crepes—all 50c a yard.

The D. H. Mazey Company
FORMERLY THE H. H. GRIGGS STORE.

READ THE WANT ADS ON PAGE SIX TONIGHT

CONCRETE DRAIN TILE
4-INCH .28c Per Rod 5-INCH .38c Per Rod
3-INCH .50c Per Rod 6-INCH .80c Per Rod

THE WYETH-SCOTT CO. Mfrs.
Manning Street and B. & O. R. R. Phone 7019

Established 1847.
Allcock's
PLASTERS
The World's Greatest External Remedy.
Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs
Allcock's J. Johnson's Plaster
Relieves Rheumatism, Neuralgia,
Soreness of Muscles
Rheumatism in Shoulder
Soreness of Muscles
Soreness of Muscles
Prevents Colds by Being Applied
as well as a Cough.

Allcock's is the original and genuine varnish plaster.
It is a standard remedy, sold by druggists in every part of the civilized world. There is no Pain.

Allcock's Lotion—Rash relief. Something new and good. For nothing more it is important to put a plaster. Wonderful in cases of chapped skin and all pains. Guaranteed to be an Art Remedy. Price in a bottle, 50c. Send for Sample.

ALLCOCK MANUFACTURING CO. 274 Canal Street, New York.

When you need a Pill
TAKE A Brandreth's Pill (Est. 1752.)
FOR CONSTIPATION, RELIEFNESS, HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, INDICATION, Etc. Purify the body.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

You will travel with benefit to yourself and other activities will result favorably. Be careful of your conduct toward the opposite sex.

Those born today will have strong characters and will be fond of political affairs and scientific arguments. They will be happy with certain people and will accomplish much, but if associated with certain kinds, they may experience some difficulties.

LUTHER LEAGUE
ENTERTAINMENT
GREAT SUCCESS

The entertainment given last evening in the Sunday school room of the First Methodist church was a success. The Luther League, a group of young players, their costumes, which was well planned and conducted most enthusiastically to a large audience.

Miss Alice Brown and Mr. E. G. Gammie carried the major parts and were ably supported by Misses Josephine and Alice V. Verner, Hilda Hart, George Verner, Mrs. St. John, Edith Waukeehan, Misses Edward, Weston, James Brown, Fred W. Wetherbee, Wm. L. Gandy, Gray Swingle, Andrew W. Sturte, Stasen and Walter Tamm. The play consists of bright, sparkling dialogue, supported by interesting pictures, the pose of the actors located in the background, costumes and excellent lighting effects, easily makes this in the front of any enter-

BIG DROP IN PRICES

ON ALL

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES AND FURS

SAVINGS NOW RANGE FROM  $\frac{1}{4}$  TO  $\frac{1}{2}$

Tomorrow prices take another big drop on our large stocks of Women's Misses' and Children's beautiful high-grade outer wear apparel. Also we have picked up many choice garments at very low prices which have been added to regular stocks at same low prices.

WOMEN'S COATS Worth Up to $13.95 Priced Now at $7.50

WOMEN'S COATS Worth Up to $18.50 Priced Now at $10.00

WOMEN'S COATS Worth Up to $22.50 Priced Now at $12.95

WOMEN'S COATS Worth Up to $25.00 Priced Now at $15.00

WOMEN'S SESGE DRESSES Worth Up to $12.50 Priced Now at $6.95

WOMEN'S SERGE DRESSES Worth Up to $20 Priced Now at $10.00

WOMEN'S SILK DRESSES Worth Up to $15.00 Priced Now at $8.95

WOMEN'S SILK DRESSES Worth Up to $18 sizes 42 to 56 in. Priced Now at $12

WOMEN'S SILK WAISTS Worth Up to $3.50 Priced Now at $1.95

AT  $\frac{1}{2}$  OFF

Women's Suits Worth Up to $35.00 Priced Now at $15

AT  $\frac{1}{3}$  OFF

All Furs of Every Description

AT  $\frac{1}{2}$  OFF

ALL CHILDREN'S VELVET AND CORDUROY HATS AND CAPS

The Store That Serves You Best.

Meyer & Lindorf

NEWARK, OHIO

East Side of the Square.

Auditorium—ALL THIS WEEK

MR. KIRK BROWN
Supported by Miss Marguerite Fields
and an excellent company.

TONIGHT

"THE WIFE"

TOMORROW MATINEE, AND NIGHT.
The New York and London Sensation.

"THE TYPHOON"

FRIDAY MATINEE,
"OLIVER TWIST"

Prices
Mat. Adults 25c. Children 10c
Evenings, 10, 20, 30, 50 cents
Children in Arms Not Admitted.

Orpheum Theatre

BILL THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, FEB. 6, 7, 8.

THE MUSICAL FARCE
In One Act.

THE SILENT PARTNER

Songs, Music, Pretty Chorus.
Order Seats by Phone—1266.

WONDERLAND
TONIGHT

"The Genius of Port Lapawai," a big military drama—a two-reel 101 Bison.

CURRENT TOPICS OR ANIMATED WEEKLY

TOMORROW—"Surveyor" and the

"Pony Express"—"Bitter Dose."

GETTING ALONG FINE

WITH NO DESIRE TO DRINK

Cheerful Message From a Man Made Liquor-Proof in Three Days at the Neal Institute.

"I am still getting along without any desire for drink and the good part of it is the longer I am away from it, the more I detect it. The smell is disgusting to me."

There is no publicity. Names are never revealed. Your own investigation never re-vealed. Your own invesigation never re-vealed. Your own inves-